2019 Vintage

Main characteristics of the vintage

A great vintage ending in “9”

2019 marked an important step in the progression of our environmental approach, which now concerns the entire vineyard. This year, the good climatic conditions combined with our “green” farming methods enabled us to obtain a beautiful harvest combining quality and quantity. A great vintage ending in “9” and one of the hottest of the past decade.

The exceptionally mild and dry winter was marked by temperatures above average for the season. On 13 and 14 April, our vineyard, which benefits from the moderating influence of the estuary, was spared from frost. The rains in the two first weeks of June led us to fear the development of disease but the vines remained in very good health and we maintained our environmental course.

During the two heatwaves in June and July, our clay soils and their great capacity to regulate water allowed the vines to avoid water stress. Full flowering, uniform and quick, took place during the first week of June.

The first signs of colour change appeared from July 30th. A uniform veraison followed, slowed down by cool and rainy weather in August.

Despite some intermittent rain harvest took place under good conditions from September 19th to October 8th. Our intra-plot picking followed by tailor-made vinification allowed us this year to obtain 80 batches of free-run wine and 7 batches of press wine for our blends. The high quality of the Merlot batches allowed us this year, as in 2009, to increase the proportion of this grape variety in the final blend to 30%.

The first tastings suggest a vintage very close to the 2016 with a beautiful structure of ripe, precise, concentrated tannins placing it among the great vintages of Montrose.

Blend

September 19th - October 8th.

Blend

Cabernet Sauvignon : 64%, Merlot : 30%, Cabernet Franc : 5%, Petit Verdot : 1%.

Tasting notes

Unbelievably intense, the colour is of the deepest red.

A wonderfully powerful wine, it is delicate and very harmonious on the nose. Aeration will allow black fruit aromas and notes of smokiness and vanilla to develop.

The palate is intense, concentrated and perfectly structured, underpinned by lush aromas of ripe fruit. The tannic structure is complex and silky.

2019 is ranked among the very best vintages of Château Montrose, revealing all the richness of its terroir.
